

ReSPA, DoPA and ITAP in Albania organize Capacity Needs Assessment Workshop from Regional Perspective

To be published on September 10, 2012

ReSPA (Regional School of Public Administration) together with the Department of Public Administration and the Training Institute of Public Administration of Albania are organizing the inter-institutional workshop devoted to the Capacity Needs Assessment from a regional perspective in the Western Balkans. The event takes place on 10 September, at the Sokrat Hotel at 10.00am.

In this workshop, representatives from different ministries and governmental institutions of Albania will gather to offer their input and solutions towards a synergic approach in public administration reform, human resources management and required innovations from the perspective of regional and inter-institutional stand. The respective participants will provide the necessary guideline and insight towards better coordination and development of regional efforts in the process of Capacity Needs Assessment, aligning their proposals with the rest of the region.

For this purpose, a questionnaire has been developed and will be distributed to the participants who will provide all the necessary answers.

Launching the event will be Mr. Suad Music, ReSPA Director, Ms. Blerta Selenica, the Director of DoPA, Mr. Fatmir Demneri, the Director of ITAP and Mr. Klaus Erdman, the international consultant.

Apart from identifying the Capacity Needs Assessment, topics related to regional cooperation needs which may contribute in improving management and decision-making in the participating administrations, and providing support for European integration of the Western Balkan countries will also be welcomed.

ReSPA is an International Institution set-up as a joint initiative of European Union and the Western Balkan countries working towards fostering and strengthening the regional cooperation in public administration, human resource management and civil service reform among its Member States. It seeks to offer excellent innovative and creative training events, networking activities, capacity building and consulting services to ensure that the shared values of respect, tolerance, collaboration and integration are reaffirmed and implemented throughout the public administrations in the region. It is located in Danilovgrad, Montenegro.
